

Although we are known as the forgotten part of Scotland, if you come here to visit, we are sure you will want to come back again. It is a very beautiful part of Scotland, and we are in a good spot that's rural but not too far from towns such as Huntly, Turriff, Banff, Elgin, Aberdeen and nearby fishing villages.

It is ideal for walking, cycling, surfing, following the whisky and castle trails, exploring rugged coastlines, visiting pretty fishing villages, salmon and trout fishing, pony trekking, golf, visiting National Trust for Scotland properties, and even skiing, which is just one hour's drive.
